

The Commonwealth affects to think the Democrats ought to quit prating about northern whigs opposing the Nebraska bill, and look a little at the opposition to it among themselves. To get up something like, an excuse for this gratuitous advice, it publishes two or three extracts from northern democratic papers which prove nothing but the simple fact that those papers have opposed, and still oppose the Nebraska bill; and, their editors being somewhat egotistical, would endeavor to make the world know that because their precious selves happen to think so and so, all creation must necessarily fall into the same belief.

The fact is, we don't see any very great cause for uneasiness at the fear of a split in our ranks at this time, and still less for the future. We believe that nine tenths of the masses of the great democratic party all over the Union are in favor of the principles of the bill; and, furthermore that in process of time, when they shall have beheld their practical workings, that to a man, they will rally to its support, and prevent its repeal. In sober truth that law we honestly believe, cannot, and never will be abrogated or ignored; for the instant such a thing is attempted by the fanatics of the North, the people will put a stop to it, and as on the occasion of its passage, a majority of democrats from the North, assisted by patriotic whigs from the South, will stifle such an attempt in its very birth.

That there is dissatisfaction in the democratic party of the North at this time we do not deny. But we believe it to be ephemeral and short lived. It is not the first time in the history of our party that such has been the case. It has been so repeatedly, and yet the malcontents have invariably, in the end, yielded to the wiser sight of those with whom they differed. Who does not remember when General Jackson first began the war against the United States Bank, how his actions were received by a large portion of the very party that had seated him in the Presidential chair? And yet in how marvelously short a time those who had opposed him and his measures most bitterly, were compelled to acknowledge the superior wisdom, foresight and sagacity which demanded the death of the "monster." So we believe it will be with the Nebraska bill. Though there may be now a portion of democrats who denounce its passage, and would urge its repeal, we doubt not the time is not far off when all will acknowledge its wisdom, its justice, and its adaptability to the wants and wishes of the whole people.

We see by a notice in the Paducah Pennant of last week, that J. G. Ford one of the proprietors has dissolved his connection with that paper. He goes to St. Louis. The Pennant will still be continued by G. H. Morrow, the present editor.

The hirsute local of the Louisville Times C. E. Mooney, has just returned from a jaunt to the country, and in his department of the paper to-day gives a glowing description of his sojourn at Lexington. One would think that a person living in the "village" by the falls of the Ohio would be able to distinguish between a city of the size of Lexington, and a wilderness. However, he was sick, and he is excusable.

We had the pleasure of "shaking hands" with our friend and patron Robt. E. Launitz, the sculptor of the monument in our cemetery erected in memory of our illustrious dead. He is in fine spirits and looks remarkably well.

DISTRESSING ACCIDENT.—On last Saturday evening a little boy about ten years old; step son of Mr. Payne, of this place, met with an untimely death while at play in a cart with some other children. It seems that he was in the front of the cart while the others, who were behind, by their weight bore the end so far down as to upset it—the front board of the cart falling upon his head, mashing it, causing instant death.

GOD'S LADY'S BOOK.—We have just examined and with pleasure the first number of the forty-ninth volume of this excellent Magazine. To say that this Lady's book has been always first in the presentation and cultivation of the earliest and purest flowers of Literature, the rarest efforts of genius in the fine arts and arts of industry, the most unquestionable inducements to the practice of religion and morality, and which which, they have so interwoven the innocent, but ever varying devices of fashion as to leave nothing to be charged against them, as having been omitted which would make it more useful or more interesting; would be repeating that which has been said so often, that it is as "familiar to their ears as House-hold words." The test of time is the best proof of perfection, and they have borne that test well, for it is now forty-nine years since they first put forth their leaves, and they are still flourishing luxuriantly, increasing yearly in the abundance of their fruits. It is an old and welcome visitor to almost every family in the land, still there are some who not yet have enjoyed the pleasure of its visits. To them we say now is the time to subscribe, as this number commences a new volume, which they (the editors and proprietors) promise shall be superior in every respect to any volume heretofore issued. The terms are as follows:—One copy one year $3; two copies one year $5; eleven copies and an extra copy to the person sending the club, making twelve copies $12.

FAILURE.—Our readers will recollect that immediately after the passage of the Nebraska bill, the Abolitionists of Massachusetts constituted themselves a central committee to "devise ways and means," whereby they could express their indignation at the consummation of the Nebraska "infamy." A circular signed by Theodore Parker as chairman of the committee, was sent to most of the towns and cities in the Eastern States, requesting the civil authorities, to drap the public buildings in mourning and toll the bells upon the anniversary of our national independence, instead of celebrating it in the usual manner. Some of the authorities promised compliance with the request, but a majority of the cities rejected the disgraceful proposal with the contempt and indignation it so richly deserved.

Well, the "glorious Fourth" rolled around, and, instead of the sable insignia of grief being displayed upon public buildings; instead of dirges and requiems for the insulted liberty of the North, the honored flag of our country waved as boldly and gallantly from lofty places as ever, and the sounds of the "spirit stirring drum, and ear piercing fife" reverberated cheerily through the streets.

Thus has passed the seventy-eighth anniversary of our national liberty; a day that will be recollect with reverence, by every heart inclined to patriotism. The infamous fanatics of the North have received another, and forcible proof that their croakings, and threats however terrible, cannot extinguish that fire, which burned so brightly in the bosoms of our sires, and which is still flowing in the breasts of their descendants.

THE UP TRAIN ON LAST SATURDAY MORNING was detained, and did not arrive here until twelve o'clock. It was caused by the train running over some cows, throwing it off the track and "smashing up" the baggage car, on account of which they had to send back to Louisville for another. No one was hurt, and nothing except the above mentioned car, damaged. From what we learn their is no blame to be attached to the Conductor.

WELL SAID, AND TRUE.—The Indianapolis Sentinel of the 21st confirms all we said yesterday in relation to the cowardly libels in circulation against Judge Douglas, and adds that "when Congress adjourns, he will return to his residence in the Garden City. He will then talk face to face with those who reviled him, and burnt him in effigy, and mark our word for it, he will not be insulted. The abolitionists who now talk so violently will be mute as mice. They always fight at a distance, unless they can get a chance to shoot somebody in the dark, as they did Bachelder."

CRIME OF NORTH AND SOUTH.—The Richmond Enquirer publishes the following statistics, showing the relative amount of crime, and the relative number of churches in the Northern and Southern States.

With a less population by half a million, the Southern States have above a thousand more Churches than ten Northern States which boast lowest of their morality and enlightenment.—With an excess of only half a million in population, the ten free States have double the number of criminals which are found in ten corresponding slave States.

HOUSEHOLD WORDS.—We have the July number of this periodical, from our police and attentive friend R. H. How of Louisville; we see that there is a reduction in the price of the sixth, seventh and eighth volumes; they will be sold hereafter at one dollar and a half per volume; the first five volumes separately at one dollar and seventy-five cents or the full sets ($8 vols.) for twelve dollars. They can be only had at R. H. How's book store on fourth street Louisville Ky.

CINCINNATI, July 8, M.
The river has fallen 5 inches. The weather is hot.
Guess it didn't hurt the river much to fall only five inches, unless it was very heavy! The weather being hot isn't any news in this region.

The select committee of the Common Council of Louisville, to whom was referred the petition of ROBT. J. WARD, praying compensation ($1,160.77) for the damage done to this dwelling during the late outbreak in that city, reported at their last meeting, against paying him anything. The grounds of their refusal, are that by law, municipal corporations are not responsible for injury done to property by mobs; secondly that the officers are quasi civil officers, and as such are responsible for malfeasance, or nonfeasance in office, but the corporation, is not.

HYPOCRACY is a funny fellow! It walks into church solemnly on a Sunday morning, sleek, clean shaved, and as smiling as a man with a new wife for the third time. It goes to the anthem, responds to the prayer, listens attentively to the sermon, and deacons. It is as free with the women as rough or prepared chalk, and talks to young girls with the greatest freedom. The missionary field is its especial care; all the neighbors are drummed up to come "forward and aid a benevolent," "objekt." Some subscribe large sums, and others throw in small amounts—the large contributors get their names into the papers, while the small ones are content with having done their duty. The same hypocrisy we have seen severely playful on a Sunday, and on Monday it barters a pair of garters with a courtesan. It has been known to turn up its eyes with horror at the uttering of an oath, and before fairly recovered from the shock, to swallow a laboring man out of money which should have been his bread. It is prevalent in some cheap groceries, in the shape of short weights; is exhibited in wet goods—predominates in coffee; is powerful in mind, and—its every where. Wherever you meet the fellow shake him off; eschew his acquaintance—don't let your wife know there is such a character. Better be a Mormon, a thing-a-my, a street contractor, or ex-treasurer than a hypocrite. It is a hazardous business, if you paddle your own canoe.

AN EDITOR ON BOARD.—The editor of the Maine Republican Journal says:—Editors are telling their experience; so here is ours. For years we have worn a stout, handsome beard, of a fancy color, a cross between London brown and the shade of a Malta kitten, shaving only the upper lip. We began this course, in the first place, because we were too lazy to shave.—Last summer we wanted to look at our countenance, and so we had our facial hair removed, and got the bronchitis in place of it. The beard was more comfortable than a sore throat, and so we took it back. We believe in a beard as an arrangement of nature, necessary for the health—and nature is not often improved upon.

NONE OF YOUR BUSINESS.—An old maid in a down eastern village, called in her inquisitive way, upon a young and very pretty lady, a great favorite in the town, who (she had "wormed out" of somebody with whom he had been talking) was about to get married to a worthy young gentleman living in the same place. She began her questioning abruptly:
"I hear somebody is going to get married.—Who do you guess it is, now?"
"I don't know; I am sure."
"Couldn't you guess now; don't you think of somebody that's going to be married?"
"I guess not."
"Well, now, Susan, s'posin' anybody was to ask me if you wasn't engaged, and wasn't going to be married for long, what should I say to em?"
"Tell 'em," said Susan, "that you don't know anything at all about it, and that it is none of your business."

The business of pumping was over that day in that quarter at last.

WASHINGTON, July 6.
Mr. Gillett presented the resolutions of the Legislature of Connecticut on the subject of slavery, censuring Mr. Lowry for his vote for the Nebraska bill, and repeal of the Missouri Compromise. Mr. Lowry defended his course and reviewed the legislation of the majority of the Connecticut Legislature on the subject of slavery. He accepted the vote of censure as the high mark of compliment which could be paid him by that majority. Mr. Gillett responded, warmly condemning the fugitive slave law as clearly unconstitutional. Mr. Toucy responded.

THE TEACHER POSED.—A teacher asked a bright little girl, "What question is opposite us on the globe?"
"Don't know, sir," was the answer.
"Well, now," pursued the teacher, "if I were to bore a hole through the earth, and you were to go in at this end, where would you come out?"
"Out of the hole sir!" replied the pupil, with an air of triumph.

At Constantinople and the adjacent ports an American ham is worth five dollars, a six cent bottle of ale fifty cents, a two pound cheese two dollars. A steamer adopted to convey freight might easily make a fortune in the Bosphorus.

Arrival of the Baltic.
A dispatch from Vienna asserts positively that Russia has, out of high respect and consideration for Austria, consented to evacuate the principalities, and was already withdrawing all the forces beyond the Pruth.
Lord John Russell officially announced in the British Parliament that the siege of Silistria had been raised, and that the advanced guards of the French and English had reached Pravadi, and Omar Pasha was advancing with his whole force to the Danube.

WASHINGTON, July 7, M.
The House passed a number of amendments to General Appropriation Bill including appropriation for the completion of Custom Houses at various points West and Southwest. The House then defeated the bills, yeas 15, nays 89, adjourned.

Concord, N. H., July 6.
On the 10th ballot this afternoon, whole number 309, necessary for a choice 185. Wells 143, Morrison 91, Eastman 39, Tappan 9, Clark 14, Goodwin 5, scattering 4—no choice.
11th ballot—Wells 148, Morrison 95, Eastman 45, Tappan 5, Clark 14, Goodwin 4, scattering 9—no choice.

A motion to indefinitely postpone, offered by a Whig, was carried, 159 to 147. Motion to reconsider, negatived, 157 to 144. Thus settling the question for the present session.

BALTIMORE, July 5th
An awful accident occurred yesterday, about 1 1/2 p. m. on the Susquehanna Railroad, five miles from this city, near the relay.

The excursion train from the American celebration at Adair's Grove, was returning, and came in collision with the regular passenger train from Baltimore to New York. About two thousand persons were on the excursion, which was coming at full speed. It contained fourteen cars. The crash following the collision was terrible, and it is believed that over 30 persons were killed, besides 100 injured—40 of who are badly, and many fatally.

Among the killed are recognized Henry Reynolds, Hagar Claiborne, Benjamin Merriman, Henry Claiborne, Wm. Scott, Mrs. Robertson, a boy named Somers, Martin Boyd, and a colored man, name unknown, and a young man, named Outland; besides these are 12 dead bodies not recognized.

Among the wounded are some so injured that their recovery is doubtful.
There were some who died during the night, after being carried from the scene.

Ten o'clock, A. M.—John Scott, the conductor, died this morning.
The following persons have also died:
Lewis Cochran, of Washington, Julius Counsel, Charles Boyd, James Boyd, Richard McCormick, James Ray, Michael McGauley, Henry Rhodes, Fred McOmman, George Pringle, Joseph Kruger, Pat Zimmerman, and Mrs. Gregg.

There are in addition a number of others unknown.
The bodies of the dead are crushed in an awful manner. It is reported that Madison Jeffers had died of his injuries. Nearly all of the passengers killed and wounded belong to this city. Twenty-four dead bodies were brought in from the scene at midnight. An inquest has been held over the victims, and no verdict yet been rendered. It is now learned that the number of deaths will be 35, many of the wounded are lying in most dreadful agony, and cannot possibly survive much longer. The Railroad Company are loudly censured, and the most intense excitement prevails throughout the city.

Mr. Jeffers is still living, but he will probably expire before evening. He was much esteemed. Several additional deaths occurred this morning; a number of others wounded have been brought to the city. They are mostly of the poorer class of society, and the scene on their arrival was heart-rending.

On the first rumor of the accident last evening, thousands congregated at the depot to hear the result, and as the particulars came in, the most dreadful shrieks and cries rent the air. The accident was, no doubt, the result of carelessness. The inquest is still pending.

BALTIMORE, July 7
The total number of deaths caused by the railroad accident on the 4th inst., is 32. Three or four more are in a doubtful condition.
A warrant was issued to arrest Parks Winchester, Superintendent of the road. It was rumored this morning that he had resigned.

The accident is now attributed mainly to the recent removal of the competent and experienced President and Superintendent of the road, by political proscription, and the appointment of inexperienced political successors.

PHILADELPHIA, June 7.
St. Andrews Church, (Protestant Episcopal), on the corner of Eighth and Spruce streets, was broken into last night and robbed of the greater part of a valuable silver communion service, consisting of four collection plates, two bread stands four wine cups, a d two wine strainers.

CINCINNATI, July 7.
During a thunder storm this afternoon, a building on Columbia street, occupied by Dea. & Co., Way, commission liquor merchants, was struck by lightning, setting fire to the liquor in the upper story. The building was destroyed. Loss $20,000. The adjoining buildings were slightly damaged.

BUFFALO, July 7.
The night express train of the Great Western Railroad left the suspension bridge last night, and ran over a horse, throwing two emigrant cars off the track. Seven persons were killed, and ten severely wounded. First class passenger escaped unharmd.

DIED.
On the 7th July, 1854, at the Franklin Female Institute, near this city, Mrs. Lucy Lloyd, (consort of Dr. Francis Lloyd,) aged about 50 years.

She was a native of Virginia, and a daughter of John Roberts, a celebrated German surgeon, of the Revolutionary army, and by female descent, she claimed consanguinity with most of the old Virginia families. For many years she had struggled with a painful disease, which, for the last three years, confined her to her bed, but she bore her protracted sufferings with meekness and fortitude. A numerous circle of relatives and friends, to whom her virtues had endeared her, lament her loss.—Com'th.

On Thursday evening, July 6th, after a long illness, RICHARD D. HARLAN, eldest son of Hon. James Harlan, of this city, in the 31st year.

When the war with Mexico was declared, the deceased volunteered in defence of his country's honor; was elected a Lieutenant in Capt. Tought's company of Kentucky Cavalry, and fought bravely on the bloody field of Buena Vista. He was a gallant and noble-hearted man—a better friend to every body else than to himself.—Com'th.

To the above, we as a personal friend to the deceased, would add our tribute to his memory. We had known him long and well, and a truer-hearted friend, or nobler gentleman, in all the qualities of head and heart, we have never met. In the fullness of our heart at his departure, we can only say "we loved him," and exclaim through tears "peace to his ashes and honor to his memory."

OBITUARY.
Died of pulmonary consumption on the 28th May, 1854, MARY A. M. PETERS, aged 39 years. She was the wife of Mr. John Peters, and daughter of Mr. W. B. Crockett deceased, all of Franklin county, Ky. She was a member of the Christian church, and died in the faith of the resurrection, and in the hopes of immortality. She leaves one child a son about 18 years of age, many relations, and numerous friends to feel her loss. May they not forget her last solemn admonitions.
Although beneath the sod she sleeps,
And o'er her grave her friends may weep;
Yet God will bid his children come
And enter their celestial home.

LIVER DISEASE.—CARTER'S SPANISH MIXTURE, as a remedy for liver disease, and the number of formidable evils connected with a disordered state of that organ, is unrivalled.
Hundreds of certificates, from the highest sources, of persons living in the city of Richmond, Va., might be given of cures effected by Carter's Spanish Mixture. We have only room to refer to the extraordinary cure of Samuel M. Drinker, Esq., of the firm of Drinker & Morris, Bookellers, Richmond, Va., who was cured by two bottles of Carter's Spanish Mixture, after three years suffering from diseased liver. He says its action on the blood is wonderful, better than all the medicine he had ever taken, and cheerfully recommends it to all.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS are the best medicine now on sale in the United States, the ingredients of which they are composed are so unobjectionable, that they cannot harm the most delicate constitution. To validate this theory, they cannot fail to be of the utmost service, being composed entirely of medical herbs, the production of a person who has made it his study to alleviate the ills to which the human family are subject; they must, therefore, be hailed with delight, as supplying a want long felt in this country.

THERE ARE FEW things which afford us greater pleasure than sitting down to write a notice of the celebrated HOLLAND GERMAN BITTERS, because we are fully conscious we are conferring a public benefit, and our heart tells us that by our notice many have been induced to take these Bitters, and been rescued from death by Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, &c., for the cure of which it is certain. It is prepared and sold only by Dr. C. M. Jackson, at the German Medicine Store, No. 120 Arch street, Philadelphia.—2 w.

Therefore, however broken in health and spirits, however loathsome to himself and others, let no one despair of recovery; let the patient only understand that his hope of physical restoration lies in "Guyssott's Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla," and persuade him for his LIFE'S SAKE, to try it, and we have no hesitation in predicting his speedy restoration to health.
[See advertisement.]

DR. GUYSSOTT'S YELLOW DOCK AND SARSAPARILLA, for the cure of disease, or as a Stryg purifier of blood and as a general tonic for the system, is unrivalled.
The curative powers of this Extract are truly wonderful, and all invalids should make immediate trial of the "Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla." It cannot injure the most delicate patient.

AFFLICT! DREAD!

PHILADELPHIA MEDICAL HOUSE.—Established 50 years ago by Dr. KINKELIN, corner of Third and Union sts., between Spruce and Pine, Philadelphia, Pa.

Are afflicted that Dr. KINKELIN confines his practice to a particular branch of medicine, which engages his undivided attention. He cautions the unfortunate against the abuse of mercury, which he holds to be a most pernicious and dangerous remedy, and cautions the patient to avoid it.

TWENTY YEARS EXPERIENCE.
In the treatment of a class of disease, hitherto neglected and imperfectly understood, has enabled Dr. KINKELIN, (author of a work on Self Preservation) to prove that a cure can be effected, not only by local and constitutional weakness, mental and physical suffering, are traceable to certain habits, forming the most secret yet deadly and fatal springs of domestic misery and premature mortality.

TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE.
There is an evil habit sometimes indulged in by boys, in solitude, often growing up with them to manhood, and which, if not reformed in due time, not only leaves serious obstacles to matrimonial happiness, but gives rise to a series of protracted, hideous, and devastating affections. Few of those who give way to this pernicious practice are aware of the consequences, until they find the nervous system shattered, frail, straggled and unaccountable feelings, and vague fears in the mind.

The unfortunate thus afflicted becomes feeble, is unable to labor with accustomed vigor, or to apply his mind to study; he soon loses his appetite, he is indolent, and engaged in his sport with less energy than usual.

If he surrenders himself before the practice has done its worst, and enters under the treatment of Dr. KINKELIN, his sense tells him that this is caused by his early habits. These are considerations which should awaken his attention to the danger he is in.

MARRIAGE.
Requires the fulfillment of several conditions, in order that it may be the cause of mutual happiness. Could the veil which covers the grave of domestic wretchedness be raised, and its true source in every instance disclosed—in how many could it be traced to physical disqualifications and their attendant disquietude? Apply them while it is yet time, in order to have your untiring and related organization reformed, revived and strengthened.

He who places himself under Dr. KINKELIN's treatment may rely upon his honor as a gentleman, and rely upon the assurance that the secret of Dr. KINKELIN's treatment is not to be divulged.

Coming man—let no false modesty deter you from making your case known to one who from education and respectability, can restore you to health.

Too many think they will conceal the secret in their own hearts, and cure themselves. Alas! how often a self-taken delusion, and how many a promising young man, who might have been an ornament to society, has faded from the earth.

Strictures of the urethra are promptly removed by the application of a new treatment, without the use of Dr. K. Weakness and constitutional debility promptly cured, and full vigor restored.

CORRUPT INVALIDS.
